‘Entity’ Cover

We have a number of members who are set up as Limited Companies or run clinics where other professionals work. To protect your business against claims being made against it (rather than against an individual practitioner), we can extend your insurance and this is FREE for businesses where ALL practitioners are BCA members. This will allow business owners to have peace of mind, knowing that they will be covered, in the event of a claim against the business entity.

In addition, even where the business includes chiropractors (or other practitioners such as physiotherapists and osteopaths) who are non-BCA members, the cover to protect the business is still available for a small payment of £50 per non-BCA member practitioner. There are some types of professions (such as those conducting surgical work) which cannot be accommodated within your cover and would need a separate policy to be arranged.

Please note that if you have entity cover you still need to ensure that all practitioners have their own individual insurance in place (whatever their profession).

If you have already told us about your Limited Company status, or details of your wider clinic, you need take no action.

If you haven't let us know about your Limited Company before, or have any questions, then please contact BCA Insurance Services 01823 250 788
